Discriminated in the name of the freedom

Dear friends,

Motherhood is the heart of the family and family is the basic unit of society.

“Women make a great contribution to the welfare of the family and to the development of society, which is still not recognized or considered in its full importance. The social significance of maternity, motherhood and the role of parents in the family and in the upbringing of children should be acknowledged”, quoted para 29 of the UN Beijing Platform.

Promoting the human right of family and researching on it as we doing on Human Dignity Global Index, we should enlight the crucial role of mothers and mathernity.

Mothers are the heart and nurturing force of the family and society, by giving life, and nurturing their children, mothers, in cooperation with fathers, become the strength and the sustaining force of humanity.

Family stability is becoming really important to ensure healthy society, social cohesion and educate children on civil and moral virtues as responsibility, gratuity, generosity, liberty.

Children who are raised by dedicated mothers in a stable familial environment benefit all of society.

Motherhood is one of the most important, rewarding, and exciting occupations a woman can engage in, many public policies and societies often discriminate against motherhood by ignoring and rejecting its intrinsic value or even because a false sense of trivial feminism against 'womenliness'.

Women in the labour market often experience discrimination for choosing motherhood, too often and in many countries they have been obliged to resign because they choose life.

Motherhood and childhood still are entitled to "special care and assistance", as the Universal Declaration of Human Rights told us.

“Mothers and their children need to be respected and honored as important members of society.

Motherhood and familial dedication demand and deserve social and political recognition.

Full dedication to the family must stop being disregarded, and used as a reason to condemn mothers into social depravity”.

Thank you for your help, prayers and attention !
